The National WWII Museum Hosts Women of Courage Lecture
*Hear from World War II survivors Anne Levy and Nicole Spangenberg
as they share their stories of bravery and commitment*

WHAT: There are endless stories of courage that took place during World War II, with new narratives being shared with audiences every year. Hear two personal accounts from the extraordinary women who experienced them - Anne Levy and Nicole Spangenberg.

Anne was a young girl in Poland hiding from the Axis with her family, while Nicole, a French teenager in the Resistance, risked her life to help her countrymen fight the Nazis. Both women, who live locally, survived—and the experiences shaped the rest of their lives.

Presented in partnership with the Junior League of New Orleans and the National Council of Jewish Women Greater New Orleans Section.

WHEN: Wednesday, March 21, 2018

The National WWII Museum tells the story of the American experience in the war that changed the world – why it was fought, how it was won, and what it means today – so that future generations will know the price of freedom and be inspired by what they learn. Dedicated in 2000 as The National D-Day Museum and now designated by Congress as America’s National WWII Museum, it celebrates the American spirit, the teamwork, optimism, courage and sacrifices of the men and women who fought on the battlefield and served on the Home Front. The 2017 TripAdvisor Travelers’ Choice™ awards ranks the Museum No.2 in the world and No.2 in the nation.
